- Carrying bag

Safety first:

- The Buteo Photo Gear Bag hide is a single-person hide, so never use it with more than one person!
- Ventilate the tent sufficiently.
- Please ensure that you do not use the bag hide under trees where branches may fall or trees themselves may fall over.
- Do not use the hide during a storm or thunderstorm.
- Do not use fire in or around the hide, do not smoke.
- Do not take any risks with fire, especially in dry natural surroundings or during drought conditions.
- Do not use this product if you are under the influence of alcohol, drugs or medication.
- Benel B.V. / Buteo Photo Gear accepts no responsibility for accident or injury caused by improper use of this product, failure to comply with the instructions provided in this manual, or modifications made to this wildlife photography hide.

Getting started with the Baghide:

1. The baghide is a photohide without poles that you can throw over yourself and your equipment. It was designed so that it fits comfortably to your head, using a ring. This keeps the baghide firmly in place, while a viewing window (with insect screen) allows you to check your surroundings in front of you.
The canvas is big enough to cover yourself and your tripod with camera/lens, while your photo backpack can be placed next to you or below.
2. There is a Velcro strip on the front, which can remain closed or be opened to insert a tripod leg, for example, to provide a little more space.
3. Just below the viewing window is the opening for your lens. You can close this with the cord and cord stopper at the front to ensure a good fit and seal.
